

Journal photo by John Denniston

Anyone need a door?

Doors, doors and more doors—150 of them, to be exact—are up for sale by Concordia College, 71st Street and Ada Boulevard. Workmen are renovating the boys' dormitory at the college. The remodelling calls for new doors—so the 150 relics are out to pasture. A word to the interested: doors make good coffee tables, end tables and firewood—as well as just plain doors. Buyers may telephone the college to purchase them.