Concordia College's 'Spike Jones' Boys' Rate High With Fans

Originality and imagination are the keynote of this pseudo-musical aggregation from Concordia College, known as the "Spike Jones' Boys." Organized and directed by Herb Fox, the mock orchestra imitates actions and words of Spike Jones' records played on a public address system.

The group has appeared on many Junior Red Cross programs, including the high school talent night, and has given performances at the Charles Camshell Hospital and the Oliver Mental Institute. The boys are shown in "hill-billy" garb, to give color to such selections as "Life Gets Tedious" and "I'm My Own Gran'pa."
