College Co-eds Join In Christmas Party

The co-eds of Concordia College held their annual Christmas party last week in the lounge of the women's dormitory. The lounge was decorated by the dorm council and a brightly lighted tree stood in one corner.

The evening opened with devotions read by Lois Liske of Kelowna, B.C. Mrs. Ian Maxwell, the house mother, served a lunch of buns, salads, cookies and cake. After lunch, the girls participated in group games.

Santa Claus, arrived later with a bag full of gifts slung over his shoulder. After distributing the gifts, Santa joined in singing Christmas carols with the girls, led by Miss Carlene Helmkamp, dean of women. The evening was brought to a close with devotions in the college chapel.

A banquet for Concordia students, the faculty and their wives, was held Thursday. After the banquet the students went caroling in the neighborhood of the school.

PAGEANT

The college Christmas pageant was attended by some 600 persons Wednesday evening at Alumni Hall. The 13-act production was one of the most colorful Christmas pageants to be staged in Edmonton.

Over 80 per cent of the student body participated in this highlight of the campus Christmas season. The pageant has been an annual affair for seven years.

FIRST CHRISTMAS

The college Drama Club and the Chapel Choir joined in words and song to tell the story of the first Christmas. The pageant was under the direction of Mr. Albert R. Riep. The 28-voice choir was directed by Miss Helmkamp.

Raymond Ensminger, of Pono-ka, acted as narrator.

The roles of Mary and Joseph were portayed by Linda Lange, a Grade 11 student from Claresholm, and Wayne Stuhlmiller, a sophomore student from Kelowna, B.C.
