CONCORDIA BAD WRITING CONTEST

It Was A Dark And Stormy Night ...

Want to win a prize? Like to laugh? Join the English Department Bad Writing Contest.

All you have to do is write one sentence!

The rules: come up with the opening sentence of a novel. The catch is that it has to be the worst sentence possible. And by "worst" we don't mean that your spelling or grammar should be atrocious. Instead, you should aim for something corny, wacky, lame, melodramatic, over the top.

Example: It was during a poker game that Eden realized why she wouldn't want to date a vampire: when the stakes go up they're too bloody scared to bite the bait.

Tip: It's generally a good idea to pick a genre (like western, harlequin romance, science fiction) that you want to parody.

The contest is open to all students, faculty, and staff until December 5th (midnight). Entries should be emailed to Dr. Conrad van Dyk (conrad.vandyk@concordia.ab.ca). You can submit up to 3 entries.

Prizes: the winner will receive a $50 Amazon gift card. The runner-up will receive a $25 dollar Amazon gift card. All other participants will receive a few good laughs. For more details: <http://english.concordia.ab.ca/>
