Camp Quality Needs Your Help

After lifting the spirits of children with cancer for fifteen years, Camp Quality Alberta needs your help. We're putting out the call for volunteers ages 18 and up to help assist with our annual summer camp for children affected by cancer.

Camp Quality is a complete volunteer-run, camp and non-profit foundation that puts on a weeklong summer camp in August for children ages 4 to 18. Each summer on the shores of Sylvan Lake, a volunteer organizing committee organizes out of this world activities to allow kids the experience of being able to put their illness behind them. Siblings of each camper are also invited to attend.

Compared to other summer camps, the format is very unique. Every camper is partnered up with a volunteer called their "companion", whose there to provide assistance, guidance and support. It's hoped after experiencing camp together for the week, a life-long friendship is formed that lasts for years to come.

Other roles at the camp include:

Support Companion, Kitchen, Lifeguard, Medical Staff, Programming Staff, Photographers, Videographers and the Organizing Committee.
