

FUDGE LADY ON CAMPUS

Shelly will once again bring her wonderful selection of fudge to Concordia, and will be here October 22nd, 23rd and 24th in Tegler Centre, or in front of the Bookstore. Shelly will be donating a portion of her proceeds in support of student scholarships and bursaries through the Make Your Mark program. Christmas orders welcome.

SURVEY ON SPIRITUALITY & MEANING IN LIFE.

The following is a link to a survey for some research being conducted by Dr. Dorothy Steffler and research assistants Kenneth Murdoch, and Jessica Gosselin on the connection between Spirituality (or lack thereof) and Meaning in life.

It will take you approximately 15 minutes to complete it, and it would help them tremendously if you did! The more responses they receive, the better! It is completely anonymous.

Thank you for your time!

The Concordia Bad Writing Contest

Every year the English Department runs a creative writing contest. This year we are doing our own version of the Bulwer-Lytton Fiction Contest.

The rules: All you have to do is come up with the opening sentence of a novel. That's right — just one sentence. The catch is that it has to be the worst sentence possible. And by "worst" we don't mean that your spelling or grammar should be atrocious. Instead, you should aim for something corny, wacky, lame, melodramatic, over the top.

For examples of wonderfully bad opening sentences, just follow the link above. It's generally a good idea to pick a genre (like western, harlequin romance, science fiction) that you want to parody.

The contest is open to all students, faculty, and staff until December 1st (midnight). Entries should be emailed to Dr. Conrad van Dyk (conrad.vandyk@concordia.ab.ca). You can submit up to 3 entries.

As soon as entries come in they will be posted on our website and you will have a chance to comment on them and tell us which ones you like. Your comments may influence the judging committee!

Prizes: the winner will receive a $50 Amazon gift card. The runner-up will receive a $25 dollar Amazon gift card. All other participants will receive a few good laughs.
