Community Chorus to sing at New York's Carnegie Hall

The Concordia Community Chorus and conductor Joy Berg are headed to Carnegie Hall! Dr. Graeme Langer, Director of Choral Activities at UBC, invited the Chorus to join three other choirs in a performance there this Sunday, March 22nd. Thirty-three singers from the Chorus have taken on the challenge of performing Arvo Pärt's Berliner Messe, which will be conducted by Dr. Langer.

Joy says: "I am delighted and proud of the choristers for not only taking on the challenge of singing Arvo Pärt, but taking it on tour and being excellent ambassadors for Concordia University College of Alberta."

Our ringers are very excited to be joined by indie trio Shel Boschman (bass), Allan Levesque (percussion), and James Turner (guitar), who are enchanted by the bells.

The program also includes the international premiere of Jubiloso ringer Betty Radford's award-winning Canadian soundscape "So Glorious and Free." Enjoy our rich heritage in music and PowerPoint, from folksongs to loon calls to the Northern Lights!
