“One of the most important things I was ever told is that no matter what you do in university, you need to find ways to get yourself involved.

The Student Ambassadors program has given me opportunities to learn about Concordia by volunteering at various campus events, as well as meet incredible students and staff who continuously support me both academically and personally.”

Active Citizens Social Enterprise (ACSE) Training Program

The United Nations Association in Canada (UNA-Canada) and the British Council Canada are pleased to share with you the launch of Active Citizens Social Enterprise \(ACSE\). ACSE is a social leadership training program that provides opportunity to young Canadians from diverse backgrounds, between 18-35 years of age, to learn about and experiment with social innovation through intercultural dialogue and community-led social development. Recruited youth will gain skills to tackle local challenges that align with established Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) targets.

The program will train 150 Canadian youth and local trainers in six cities across Canada on the ACSE toolkit, developed by the British Council and implemented in more than 10 countries. This workshop and toolkit enables participating youth to develop their leadership skills as social entrepreneurs to assist them in effectively addressing their identified community challenge.

During late March 2017, 10 youth participants will be chosen by a diverse Selection Committee to be part of the program's Innovation Summit in Ottawa. The Summit will showcase the youth's passion and commitment for social enterprise while convening high level representatives from the public and private sectors, innovation-focused enterprises and start-ups, social enterprises of all sizes, and UN representatives. This Summit will also provide opportunity for partnership development, to showcase social enterprise ideas, and innovation.

We request that you share this privileged opportunity with your connected youth-leaders interested in being part of this innovative training program. UNA-Canada and British Council Canada are looking for diverse and talented young individuals who are committed to and passionate about social entrepreneurship, community-engagement, social development issues, and the SDGs. To apply, interested candidates are encouraged to complete the application form. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis until end of February 2017.

Thank you for being an integral part of our recruitment process and we look forward to receiving applications from your connected youth leaders.
