Theology: Indigenous Perspective

What does it mean to do theology from within an Indigenous framework, given the history of ministry and mission among Indigenous peoples?

Terry LeBlanc

Director of NAIITS:

Terry is Mi'kmaq / Acadian, in his 43rd year of marriage to Bev. They have three adult children. He holds a PhD in Intercultural Studies from Asbury Theological Seminary, specializing in Theology, Mission and Anthropology. He is founding Chair and current Director of NAIITS: An Indigenous Learning Community (<http://www.naiits.com>).

RANDAL RAUSER

speaks on

“How People with Differing Religious Beliefs Should Relate to Each Other”

MONDAY | MARCH 30 | 2015 | 12 NOON

Hole Academic Ctr | Rm HA015 | Concordia University College of Alberta

Dr. Rauser is a broadly evangelical Christian theologian and apologist. (Visit his website at www.randalrauser.com.) He is Professor of Historical Theology at Taylor Seminary, Edmonton. He will be speaking with us on the basis of his book of the title above. The book is a plea for respectful dialogue, listening, and understanding between people of differing religious beliefs. It includes chapters entitled, ‘Those I Disagree with Are Probably Not Ignorant, Idiotic, Insane, or Immoral,’ ‘Not all Animal Rights Activists are Wackos,’ and ‘Not All Atheists are Fools.’

Join the discussion on how we should relate to each other.

Spring Convocation

May 9th, 2015

The Concordia Students' Association along with the Board of Governors, faculty and staff of Concordia look forward to celebrating your success with you!

This year the CSA (Concordia Students' Association) and Concordia will be having a reception for all graduates and their families and friends immediately following the Convocation ceremony, 4:00 pm to 6:00 pm. This standing reception will be replacing the sit down banquet we (CSA) have previously hosted.

Take the time to celebrate with your fellow graduates and the faculty and staff of Concordia. There will be free food, a cash bar, and a professional photo-booth for you and your family.
