Do You Have Library Fines?

Food For Fines ends on April 19th. Fines on Concordia items can be forgiven up to $20 for your donation of food bank items - ask at the Circulation Desk for details.

There is an online form to appeal your fines. See if you qualify for an appeal here: <http://library.concordia.ab.ca/services/appealform.php>

Don't forget the new online option to pay fines: <http://onlineservices.concordia.ab.ca/student/>. NOTE: It may take up to two (2) business days for the encumbrance to be cleared from your library account.

Do you have a favourite magazine?

The library has a small collection of popular, literary and art magazines that aren't directly related to your course work. You might have seen them on display in the library alcove or across from the Reference shelves. We evaluate these subscriptions every year and drop ones that aren't used. There is a one question survey up on the website to submit your title suggestion. We can only subscribe to a few new titles so we won't promise to subscribe to every suggestion but will consider each one. Submit your suggestion here: <http://library.concordia.ab.ca/>
