Behavioural Support and Intervention Team

Concordia's Behavioural Support and Intervention Team (BSIT) works to maintain a healthy and safe campus environment. The team's main function is to receive reports about individuals exhibiting endangering behaviours, to assemble information from across campus departments, and to determine appropriate responses.

Every individual in the Concordia community of students, faculty, and staff members shares a responsibility for observing and reporting endangering behaviours. By alerting the appropriate campus representatives you are not making a determination but making it possible for the BSIT to intervene in order to assist the individual and protect the campus.

The following Endangering Behaviours should be reported to BSIT:

- Attempted Suicide or Expression of Suicidal Intent
- Self-injurious Behaviour
- Verbal or Written Threats to People or Property
- Behaviour that disrupts or impedes the activities of the Concordia community
- Alcohol and Drug Abuse

Anyone can make a referral to the BSIT. All matters discussed with the BSIT are highly confidential.

If you feel an immediate threat of self-harm or harm to others:

Call the Edmonton Police at 911 and then call Campus Security at 780-479-8761.

Then submit a BSIT incident report form. Incident report forms are available online or from Student and Enrolment Services, Plant Operations, Counselling Services, and Human Resources offices.

If there is no immediate threat of self-harm or harm to others:

Complete a CUCA BSIT Incident Report Form available at Student and Enrolment Services, Faculty of Professional and Continuing Education, Plant Operations, Counselling Services, and Human Resources offices. The Core BSIT Team will meet to determine the appropriate course of action.

Concordia's New Website and your Online Services

Last week Concordia launched a new website. The new concordia.ab.ca one has a contemporary look and simplified structure so it's easier to navigate with fewer clicks to find what you need.

If you're wondering where your email and other online services went, we're building a new portal for you. Go to <http://onlineservices.concordia.ab.ca> and you'll find all the links you're after: email, the course management system, your timetable, grades; everything you're used to doing online. The new online services page shares the same look as the new website, so it has a familiar feel to it.

You can also get to the online services from the new website. Go to <http://concordia.ab.ca> > Current Students > Online Services
